

Headmaster's Welcome - Autumn Term

As we approach the beginning of the new school year, I am delighted to welcome back all children and staff to a safe and secure TPS. I am extremely grateful to Mr Malam, the outgoing Headmaster and to all my colleagues, who have worked tirelessly over the summer, to establish the necessary arrangements dictated by present circumstances in readiness for the Autumn Term. We anticipate running a full academic curriculum, complemented by the wide range of clubs and activities which make TPS a happy and thriving school.

Work has continued apace, to ensure that the completion of our stunning additional facility at 51, High Street is on the horizon, with the prospect of lessons for older pupils in Art and Humanities taking place in the new building after half term.

Watch out for news and photos on our website and social media, to follow the final stages of building work and the emergence of these beautifully designed teaching spaces. In addition to the realisation of this exciting project, summer improvements have included resurfacing of our main playground, the installation of improved new visitors' registration and phone systems and high specification teacher walls in key classrooms. All these benefits demonstrate the Governors' continued commitment to investment in the school, thereby providing the best possible facilities for children and staff alike.

I am truly honoured to be your new Headmaster, the fifth in Twickenham Prep School's history. My priority is to get to know each pupil, my colleagues and our TPS families. If my welcome to date is any indication, it will be a real pleasure!

Mr Oliver Barrett
Headmaster
